Registration Form

“The Creative Economy and Emerging Business: Challenges and Opportunities Summit” is designed to highlight the importance of the creative and emerging business communities in the District of Columbia. The day long Summit will include a series of workshops that will offer business owners and prospective business owners with information to excel in the local business market. Government officials will learn first hand from business owners about their specific needs and challenges and in turn, business owners will learn about various resources available to them in both the private and public sectors.

To enroll in the Summit, please complete the registration form below.
